Name: Kim Miller
Degree: Chemical Engineering
Graduation: Summer 2012

Where do you work & what do you do?
I work at General Mills in R&D, developing processes for new product ideas.

What do you miss most about college?
What I miss most about college is the people. You meet a lot of great people at school, and then at the end of 4 (or more) years, when everybody goes their separate ways, it is hard to stay in touch with everybody.

Advice for current SWEsters:
Take advantage of extra curricular opportunities. Those chances (like SWE) give you the best experience and allow you to build your soft skills (leadership, communication), which set you apart from other candidates in your job search.
